

Least sandpipers are the smallest of all sandpipers. Flocks of sandpipers probe beach sand for buried animals. Sandpipers nest in northern tundra regions. These tiny birds migrate by the thousands south along the east coast of the United States to winter in Florida.